The Romandy CTO group

The Romandy CTO group is a community for individuals in technology leadership roles, such as CTOs, VPs of Engineering, Technology Directors, located in the Romandy region of Switzerland.

The position of a CTO can often feel isolating. The role offers limited avenues for learning while simultaneously demanding one to contribute effectively at strategic, operational, technological, and technical levels within an organization. Staying updated with the ever-evolving trends and developments in the tech and business worlds presents its own set of challenges.

The group offers a safe place for members to socialize with peers, share learnings, find a mentor or mentee, and explore opportunities.

- Organize social events and gatherings
- Provide diverse opportunities for its members
- Host conferences to foster knowledge sharing
- Promote networking that extends beyond the realm of technology.

Events delivered

Four years of evenings – one room at a time

A handshake, not a contract.

You bring

A space for ~50 & light catering

A room that fits 40–80, screen & mic, drinks and finger food. We typically run 18:30–21:00 on a weekday.

We bring

The audience & the program

A curated room of 40–60 senior tech leaders, the speaker line-up, end-to-end production, and the recap that lives on after.

You get

A speaking slot & co-branded event

5–10 minutes to introduce your company and what you do, plus your logo & story across our channels before, during, and after.

We get

A great evening for the community

A new venue, a fresh perspective, and another reason for our members to show up to the next one. Everybody wins.
